Sarah's Spanish School has been a really important part of my daughters education. The classes are engaging, fun, relevant and convenient. I feel strongly that my child should be bilingual. Research shows the most important time to learn language is when the brain is biologically intended to do so, and that is in the birth through elementary school age range. I am glad to have these classes available to help guide my child's learning while she is optimally primed to learn language. I appreciate all the work that Sarah and the teachers do to make this a reality for us.
